Dear Member/Attendee,

The New England Dermatological Society invites you to attend our upcoming virtual clinical meeting jointly provided by Rhode Island Hospital and the New England Dermatological Society. This online meeting is hosted by Boston Children’s Hospital Dermatology, and will be held on Saturday, February 12, 2022.

We expect that approximately 300 dermatologists and dermatologists-in-training will attend.

In addition, please save the dates for the other upcoming New England Dermatological Society meetings. We look forward to seeing you soon!

Sincerely,

Avery LaChance, MD, MPH
Secretary, New England Dermatological Society

Program Description:

A virtual activity to provide opportunities for the exchange of information and for the advancement of knowledge of dermatology, including a focus on atopic dermatitis, through guest speaker didactic presentations.

Target Audiences:

Dermatologists, Researchers, Dermatopathologists, Residents, Fellows, NP’s, and PA’s

Learning Objectives: At the conclusion of this event, participants should be able to:

1. Identify children who warrant screening for genodermatoses and when to refer/what genetic tests to order
2. Discuss how to properly and safely treat pediatric patients with newer systemic agents
3. Identify signs, symptoms, and pathophysiology of dermatological diseases and conditions, including rare and unusual dermatological diseases

Accreditation Statement

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation criteria and policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint providership of Rhode Island Hospital and the New England Dermatological Society. Rhode Island Hospital is accredited by the Accreditation Council of Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

AMA Credit Designation Statement

Rhode Island Hospital designates this live activity for a maximum of 4.25 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
